Please note: Credit Card Starwood Preferred Guest® American Express and IHG® Rewards Club Select Credit Card is not currently available through this site. The Marriott Rewards® Premier Credit Card no longer offers Chase. The best hotel reward programs light the burden of high-cost travel, which is a good thing, because travelling with family can be too expensive. A recent analysis from Penguin Value even observed that, depending on the type of travel the family takes, you can expect to spend between $581 and $3,281. Apparently, you can spend a lot more if you take a longer trip, book luxury accommodation, or choose an expensive place. No matter how you reduce it, it's a steep price for most families. Currently, transfer partners include a tone of popular airline loyalty programs such as British Airways Executive Club, American Airlines AAdvantage, Delta Airlines SkyMiles, U.S. Airways Dividend Miles, Virgin Atlantic Flying Club, and more. Most transfers are offered at a 1:1 ratio, but several airline partners are not as generous. Make sure you understand the transfer ratio that you will receive before downloading all points from the lucrative Starwood Preferred Guest program and in any frequent flying program. Also remember, you get a 5,000 bonus points for each transfer of 20,000 or more Starwood points to the airline. In other words, 20,000 SPG points become 25,000 American Airlines miles when they are transferred to the program. Earning Starwood Preferred Guest PointsEarning Starwood Preferred Guest points is a piece of cake once you sign to the Starwood Preferred Guest® Credit Card from American Express (currently unavassable). Meeting the minimum spending requirements on the card will give you a net total of 75,000 bonus points after using your new card for $3,000 in purchases in the first 3 months, or 150,000 for if both partners get a card. As you can see from the top of the prize list, these 150,000 points could take you a long way! When you sign up for the card, you'll be automatically signed in to the rewards program. Since June 2015, the card has also started offering more benefits that make membership more valuable. For starters, American Express has decided to leave with foreign transaction fees, which will help you save money on your trip abroad. In addition, they added premium wifi for members at spg real estate and free WiFi Boingo airport. Although none of these benefits are spectacular in themselves, they make this card a smarter option in general. Marriott Rewards program Marriott is another lucrative rewards program with many hotel and resorts across the U.S., Europe, the Caribbean and Asia. Marriott patrons are free to book four consecutive nights at one hotel or resort with points, and upgrades may be available for extra points. The following chart shows how far marriott can reward points.Marriott Hotel CategoryPoints Per NightPointSavers Reward17,5006,000210,0007,500315,00010,000420,00015 0 0052 5,00020,000630,00025,000735,00030,000840,00035,000945,00040,000As se, in addition to the regular purchase price, sees Marriott offers i PointSavers prices. The list of participating hotels changes all the time, but you can easily see which resorts are for sale by signing in to your Marriott account and looking for special prices and PointSavers buyouts. Keys to using Marriott PointsThi of all, it's important to remember that Marriott and Ritz Carlton properties fall under the same umbrella so you can use Marriott points to stay in Ritz Carlton properties as well. But buybacks are generally quite pricier, so it may be better to stick to Marriott properties instead. Not only that, but you can download Marriott points on the Starwood Priority Program now that the programs have joined forces. Another advantage that comes with the Marriott Awards program is that it can boast no dates of a truncation and offers a wide range of family-oriented properties, such as Residence Inn, Fairfield Inn and Suites, i Spring-Hill Suites.Bottom line: It's the easiest way to get Marriott's future, what it's like to be in your tone, but from your tone of value, you can pick up your own in the low-cost categories. After a free fifth night, five nights in a Category 2 property would cost only 40,000 points! Earning Marriott PointsSigning up for Marriott prizes® Premier Credit Card (currently not available) is the hands-down easiest way to start building a bunch of Marriott points for your next vacation. In addition to the check-in bonus, you will also receive an additional free night at the category 1-5 location every year. Club Carlson ProgramAlmng Club Carlson offers patrons the opportunity to earn hotel reward points that can be for free nights around the world, both through paid stay and with a branded travel credit card. Although its hotel deals are very affordable in the US, Club Carlson is known for its lively and impressive hotel options in Europe and around the world. Club Carlson currently offers the opportunity to use points at 1,000 hotels worldwide, and has divided its property into seven categories for redemption. This chart will give you a rough idea of how far your Club Carlson points can go in the US or anywhere in the world:Category 1Category 2Category 3Category 5Category 5Category 5Category 7Standard Room9,00015,00028,00038,00 044,00 0Premium Rooms13,50022,50042,00057,00066,00075,000105,000Keys to Using Club Carlson PointsUsing Club Carlson points for international travel is easy and painless. All you have to do is stand as many points as you can, book your stay, and enjoy it. The fact that Club Carlson also offers a business version of this card also makes earning points easier than ever. Until last year, Club Carlson offered a free second night when you used points to book at any Club Carlson property. However, they have recently changed this offer and replaced it with something slightly less profitable – a free night on the anniversary of your card, but only if you meet certain requirements. From June 1, 2015, cardmembers can earn a free night at the Carlson Rezidor Hotel by spending $10,000 a year and paying annual fees. Earning Club Carlson PointsYou can start racking up Club Carlson shows to sign up for Club Carlson™ Premier Visa Signature Awards® Card. This will allow you to earn 50,000 bonus points after the first purchase and another 35,000 points after spending $2,500 on the card in three months. However, it is important to note that the $75 annual fee for this card is not forgiven for the first year. The good news is that you will be automatically enrolled in the rewards program when you sign up for the card. IHG Awards programIHG, or InterContinental Hotels Group, offers its own unique rewards program, allowing patrons to earn points that can redeem at the Holiday Inn, Crowne Plaza, Staybridge Suites, and Candlewood Suites properties, among others. What makes JIHG rewards the special program is that there are no dates of anogging, making JIHG points easier than ever to redeem. Keys to using IHG Prize PointsThio the IHG rewards program does not have a traditional chart, redempions start at just 10,000 points per night and rise to 50,000 points per night for their top properties. All-inclusive properties can usually be booked for around 40,000 points a night, which is stealing. Meanwhile, the IHG Points & Cash option allows you to stretch your points as far as you can by offering small amounts of cash in exchange for any extra points you might need. Earning IHG Points IHG Awards® Club Rewards Select Credit Card Makes It Easier Than jhg reward points. Simply meet the minimum spending requirement to earn a great login bonus, which is worth more free nights on almost any IHG property. In addition, you also earn one free night each year of membership in the card, and earn 5 points on the $1 spent when staying in IHG hotels. Earn 2 points to $1 spent on purchases at gas stations, grocery stores & restaurants. Earn 1 point for every $1 spent on all other purchases. You will also be automatically enrolled in the rewards program. Please note: IHG® Rewards Club Select Credit Card is not currently available through our site. How can I earn loyalty points? Fortunately, there are many ways to store and you can dramatically reduce the cost of accommodation if you are willing to join some hotel loyalty programs and take advantage of the benefits they offer. Is it really as easy as it sounds? The answer is yes: Earning hotel loyalty points is really as simple and profitable as it seems. Even if you don't travel often, you can still rack up hotel rewarding points in a hurry simply by signing up to a hotel credit card reward and meeting some basic requirements. It will typically net you hotel loyalty points, which can be redeemed for a free hotel stay, discounted prices, and benefits such as free breakfast, free internet, or room upgrades. All of these benefits and others are easy to inhold ailing if you are willing to get to know the best hotel rewards programs and sign up for an easy-to-use travel credit card. While you can sign up for all the best hotel rewards programs regardless, it's important to remember that hotel spots are much harder to earn when you don't hold cards for co-branding rewards. In most cases, you will be limited to earnings only with a paid stay in the hotel. On the other hand, signing up for any of these rewards cards means earning points on all your daily purchases. And apparently, more points = more free stays and upgrades. Hotel Rewards Credit CardsYou can earn points with a superior credit card. Of course, you don't necessarily need a card to earn hotel points – you can also earn them with frequent paid hotel stays – but these cards help you earn points for everyday spending and give you extra bonus points that you can't get anywhere else. Let's start with some of the top cards that can help you earn hotel loyalty points, followed by an explanation of most major hotel loyalty programs and their strengths. Creative Ways to Earn More Hotel Reward PointsThio you try to find a way to achieve a week's vacation with your family, it can take time with just one point of income in the household. However, if you are able to get your spouse or partner on board, you should have the potential to earn twice as many rewards. Apparently, the more hotel points you can earn in a short time, the sooner – and longer – you can stay for free at your desired destination. In this context, the more than one win-win card. Related: Best Best Credit cards Also there are other ways to make your points balance even higher. For example, signing up for a credit card that earns Ultimate Rewards points, such as chase sapphire preferred® Card, can help you deduct – or even double – your hotel rewards account balances. Currently, Ultimate Rewards transfer points in a ratio of 1:1.Marriott Rewards®IHG® Awards ClubThe Ritz-Carlton Rewards®Hyatt Gold® Current offer of 60,000 bonus points after spending $4,000 on purchases in the first 3 months of opening an account. That's $750 in travel when you cash in through the Chase Ultimate Awards®, which should be enough to pay for more nights at your favorite hotel – or tack on a few extra nights at any hotel that you choose to book with points. How to get the most out of PointsMuch hotel awards as airline miles, hotel rewards points become significantly more valuable once you understand how to use them. The key to convenience with each program is to work out the details of the program, understand the pros and cons of each program, and stay on top of all the best buyouts available. But once you take these steps, you will be in the perfect position to take advantage of a tone of travel, both domestically and overseas. For example, my husband and I traveled to Europe this fall and stayed six nights for free using our Starwood Preferred Guest points and took advantage of off-peak prices. Here's how it worked: As we travelled to London in November (an off-peak season for most destinations in Europe), we chose a Category 5 Starwood property that costs just 12,000 points a night instead of 16,000. And since we flew to Europe between October 15 and May 15, we were able to book off-peak fares and both of our tickets for just 90,000 U.S. miles in total. Meanwhile, we used our free Marriott nights to stay in accommodation in Minneapolis during family visits, and to Denver to visit the concert – all for free. This upcoming spring break, we cashed in our IHG Awards store points to spend six nights at the Holiday Inn Sunspree All-Inclusive Resort in Montego Bay, Jamaica, which was supposed to be fun and a cheap vacation, since all our meals and drinks (including alcohol) were included in the all-inclusive, which we paid with points. By the end of the year we dream of hotel options in destinations such as Aruba, Rome, Florence and Milan, and we all make sure we have points that we can pay for. Of course, such balance points are not built overnight. My husband and I usually sign up every 90 days for a few new credit card rewards, which means we constantly earn sign-up bonuses and build our own bunch of points and miles. To keep track of all this, I have a simple spreadsheet with all our rewards details. So I don't forget key details, such as meeting minimum spending or forget about the annual fees. Extracting as much as possible from hotel points is not difficult. You simply need to plan ahead, understand the rules and provisions, and find resorts and hotels that you can travel to easily, either with frequent flyer miles or by paying for a plane ticket or ride. A easiest way to start is to sign up to the right rewards card. Editorial Note: Compensation does not affect our recommendations.
